

A Mission-shaped Church

Read: Luke 10: 1-9

What does it mean for us to be a mission-shaped church and to share the Gospel to the wider community in both word and deed?

Luke 10 is a story about Jesus sending out his followers into mission. Before he sent them, he would want to give them strong words of encouragement and to stir up their spirits and fill them with a sense of joy and hope for the mission journey that lay ahead. But he doesn't do that, I'm afraid: in fact, his approach seems really puzzling...

What did he say? "The harvest is plentiful. But the labourers are few". Not exactly motivating. He compounded the problem further by saying, "Go on your way! I am sending you out like lambs into the midst of wolves", and "Carry no purse, no bag, no sandals".

So what do we learn from this passage about the task of mission to which we are called?

1. Mission is a partnership activity between all of us and God

Firstly, the fact that there were 70 people reminds us of the story of Moses in the wilderness in Numbers 11. The example of Moses calling 70 helpers for the mission mirrored here in the life of Jesus as a reminder that mission and ministry is not the sole responsibility of the leader, whether that's Moses, or Jesus, or even the Vicar! No, mission and ministry is a corporate activity that we undertake together as the Body of Christ. Christian mission is the responsibility of all believers everywhere.

2. Mission requires that we be absolutely focused on the task in hand

As a church we need to be single-minded in our commitment to mission. That's why, in verse 4, Jesus says to the 70: "Greet no one on the road". So, Jesus imperative not to stop and greet anyone was not saying that they shouldn't be friendly to other people, but they needed to remain single-minded in purpose.

3. Mission is activity-based

In verse 9, Jesus exhorts his followers to say: "The Kingdom of God has come near to you".

Firstly, the sharing of hospitality, verse 7: "Eat and drink whatever they provide, do not move about from house to house..."

Second, compassion and care are signs of the Kingdom, verse 9: Jesus said, 'Cure the sick who are there'.

Third, proclaiming the Gospel is a sign of the Kingdom, verse 9 again: "Say to them, 'The Kingdom of God has come near to you'".
